Pediatricians Who are Respectful of Biomedical Treatments

Are you looking for a pediatrician who will respect your choice to treat your child with biomedical treatments?

Many of us who are treating our children with diet, nutritional supplements, detoxification, immune support and avoidance of toxins have been frustrated with our pediatricians. Recently, I sent a note to our community asking for your recommendations of pediatricians who are supportive and respectful of our health choices for our children.

If you have a pediatrician you'd like to recommend for this post, please e-mail me.

Here are the doctors that parents from our community have recommended:

Dr. Vandana Natal in Cary

Dr. Kimberly Ramsdell in Apex

Dr. Beth Murnane in Raleigh
